Online Survey: Exploring the impact of Adrenal Insufficiency and Congenital Adrenal Hyperplasia (CAH)

Are you a parent of a child with Adrenal Insufficiency or CAH?

Is your child aged 6 or younger?

Would you like to take part in a research study to help us understand the experiences of families affected by Adrenal Insufficiency and CAH?

As part of the TAIN (Treatment of Adrenal Insufficiency in Neonates) project, Genetic Alliance UK is undertaking research to help understand the impact of Adrenal Insufficiency and CAH on children and their parents. The survey is online and should take no more than 40 minutes to complete. The survey is available in English, German or Dutch.
